

NIGEL

Kerry Domann, or his alter-ego, "Nigel", is a multi-talented performer and truly one of Australia's unique and best value-for-money entertainers.

It's Nigel's amazing ability to use his memory that really sets him apart. His truly unique combination of business savvy, comedy, memory and interactive magic must be seen in action to be believed. It's sure to leave your audience intrigued, engaged and entertained.

Kerry knows your business...

Apart from his work as an entertainer, Kerry has over 25 years experience in corporate business industries — the last 17 years in the financial markets industry as a Quantitative Analyst (the nerds of any trading floor) and Interest Rate Specialist. Prior to this, he worked in IT as a Network Supervisor, Programmer and System Analyst, and spent over five years in superannuation. Furthermore, Kerry has a Bachelor of Applied Science (Mathematics), a Masters of Information Technology, and a Masters of Business (Applied Finance).

So why is this important? It means Kerry is a unique professional, particularly as a conference MC or facilitator, as he can bring his extensive 'day-job' experience and knowledge to any conference. Professional performers with such diversified experience in both business and entertainment are rare, which is why securing Nigel for your event makes great business sense.

"The attendees had so much fun. The feedback from them was that it was the best entertainment they've had. We'll be using Nigel again next year."

-BSR Group

"Nigel was an excellent performer, great speaker and a true gentleman. He far exceeded our expectations on so many fronts. As our final speaker, he left everyone on a high and with valuable techniques to help us in our daily lives."

Nigel - MC and Conference Facilitator

Nigel is a popular MC who will keep your event rolling smoothly. For an evening function or a multi-day conference, Nigel is the preferred compere for savvy event organisers who need an efficient, entertaining and professional delivery of events.

Whether you need a formal facilitator or a light and entertaining MC, Nigel will adapt to suit. Nigel is a knowledgeable and professional business facilitator, and combines his entertainment skills to get the event's message across in an entertaining and thought-provoking way.

And it's personal..... With Nigel's unique memory skills, he'll know your guests by name and personalise the entire event. This makes a huge difference to your delegates' experience.

Nigel - Keynote Speaker and Corporate Memory Course

With the amazing ability to memorise and recall up to 300 names after just a brief meeting, Nigel teaches the theoretical and practical methods he's studied and refined for improving memory and in particular, remembering names. Nigel's memory techniques can be presented in a workshop or summarised in a 45-minute keynote presentation. His light-hearted and interesting manner makes this informative session lots of fun and is suitable for ALL industries. Your delegates will be eager to test their new skills, remembering names of friends, colleagues, customers and associates.

Anyone from students, sales people, managers and CEO's can benefit, gaining skills to improve business and enrich everyday life. A comprehensive workbook file is provided to the organiser to be customised with your company logo and distributed to delegates - an invaluable tool to refer to after the session.

"Nigel has been the MC at three major REIWA conferences involving more than 1,400 people. As MC, Nigel is fun, vibrant, enthusiastic and most importantly, keeps everything together and on track. Nigel is very conscious of being both entertaining and professional, as he guides the conferences from start to finish with an attitude and expertise that goes the extra mile. REIWA has no hesitation in recommending him as the right person to motivate your audience, get their attention, keep them amused and ensure that your conference keeps good time and sticks to its agenda."

What he's best known for...

Comedy Stage Show

Nigel's stage show is a side-splitting mix of comedy and magic. The interactive show can be adapted to suit a wide range of audiences and event styles. As the finale, the audience will witness Nigel's amazing ability to recall the names of up to 300 people after only a brief introduction. Truly unforgettable! He's one of only a handful with this ability, and the only one who has adapted it into a highly entertaining show.

"Nigel was one of the important ingredients in the success factor of our event. His humour and professionalism was spectacular, and the crowd loved him. As an MC for a 4-day event, he was very professional, and a delight to work with. He went above and beyond when it came to his role, and he made my job and that of my team so much easier. We threw many things at him, several last minute, and he came up shining each and every time. Nigel was quickly accepted as part of our (work) family and was well received by everyone. The rapport he was able to build with our staff, and our conference guests, was second to none."

Q&A — Completely tailored and automated.

Nigel has created a new version of completely automated trivia, collecting data from your smart device and feeding it straight into the trivia show. The concept enables you to incorporate company tailored information, making every event completely unique to the audience. It's also perfect for ONLINE events. Reinforce your conference message, promote sponsors or ask fun questions involving staff or company departments, and enjoy some general trivia fun.

Nigel has it all. He is the best value, most entertaining all-round entertainer available in Australia today.
